MOUNTAIN HOME.

Snow, snow, snow. The first snow of the season fell on last Friday, to the delight of our folk. The little boys were pleased to see the snow, but we expect they will be pleased more ere it is gone.

Rev. Nichols, of Brownsville, will preach at Mountain Home next Sabbath.

Mr. Lawrence Piperton's father, of Crookedville, passed through Mountain Home on last Saturday.

Sam Harris, of Madras, is visiting Mrs. Ellis this week.

I tell you woodsheds look awful snug in this vicinity, and the snow will hurry people up about getting some up for winter.

We thought the roads were made in this vicinity till we visited at Laconia and vicinity, but we think the roads are just for here now.

To the people in this vicinity I would say, let's have a Christmas tree and be happy.
I. C. USA.

The Original New Orleans Uncle Tom's Cabin Co., with a band, orchestra, scenery, bloodhounds, male quartette, and many other features, will be at the Grand Hall, Saturday, Dec. 19.

Peterson & Garland made another nice sale today of the Rutland property to Gen'l Hart for $9,000.

HOLIDAY HEADQUARTERS.

You Should See the wonderful array of Holiday Goods at Julius Gradwohl's Bazaar.

While in Albany this week our attention was attracted to the wonderful stock of holiday goods which was found in Gradwohl's Bazaar. To try and describe what we saw in there would be beyond the question; for fine lamps (hanging or stand), bicycles, tricycles, velocipedes and toys of every description and style. His shelves, counters and every available space are filled with the choicest and most varied stock of holiday goods ever seen in this valley, which consists of a beautiful assortment of albums, pinch goods, hooks and rolled gold jewelry which will do the same service as gold and costing one-tenth as much money, diamond cut pins, rings, fine umbrellas for holiday presents and novelties. His stock is now in and holiday shoppers should lose no time in seeing his wonderful array which is not surpassed by any on the coast either in elegance or price.

BEAVER CREEK.

Since I last wrote there have been two new suits in Judge Savage's court. In the first case the plaintiff was represented by Atty. Drwing, of Salem, and the defendant by Atty. G. W. Wright, of Albany. The defendants gained the case, but we understand that they had six hits more in their possession than the note they held against plaintiff called for and would have been thrown into the east had it not been for the iron clad appendage to the note requiring the giver of a note to pay attorney fees for collection. The next case was one neighbor suing another for harvest wages, the work done for a company of which defendant was one partner. Plaintiff should be well satisfied as defendant says that he (plaintiff) got judgment for two days' work more than he claimed.

But there has been a new departure from the usual way of settlement. One young man and one middle aged man have had a settlement brewing for two or three years. It finally came to a focus last Friday. As near as we can learn from rumor the middle aged man refused to settle without an itemized bill, so the young man called to his aid a first-class accountant and proceeded to ransack the ledger (usually called memory) and made out a bill more than a foot long; after which they met to compare bills. The first item on the Y. M.'s bill was 122 lbs. of flour got of the Y. M.'s father two or three years ago, but the O. M. said he had paid for the flour long ago, so a dispute arose and the O. M. ordered the Y. M. out of his house with threats to assist him with the toe of his boot. Such treatment caused the Y. M. to use some vile epithets, after which the O. M. followed him into the yard where a few Sullivanic blows passed, missing each other five or six feet, sparring and diving at each other like two young Coochin roosters. They then clinched and made the fur fly like two Thomas cats, which resulted in the O. M. falling flat of his back in the soft mud. The experienced referee which the young man had taken with him was swinging his hat and yelling "nic'em" all the while. They then separated of their own free good will and accord, and each is now fully convinced that he is able to wallop the other one in good shape next time.

The patrons of Little Salt Lake school have decided to have a Christmas tree for the amusement of the pupils.

A woman passed through this neighborhood recently, wearing a gun coat and riding a horse with a man's saddle on. She had a foot in each stirrup, greatly to the amusement of some of the young Canadians who had never seen a female cowboy.

The school did no damage in this vicinity.

TENNESSEE.

Old Dan Tucker visited Tennessee last Friday night, and was the guest of Mr. Dan Simpson. A party was given in honor of Mr. Tucker which was well attended by the young people of Tennessee. Mr. Tucker thinks he will make this his future home.

John Fox has deserted the ranks of bachelorhood, and joined in the holy bonds of matrimony with Miss Lena Wallace. The young couple left for Eugene on Friday where they will remain for a short time. We are glad to learn that they expect to make Tennessee their future home. There are more of our young men afflicted with the matrimonial fever, which is now thought to be contagious. Mr. Y. V. Guess has been quite low with it for some time and from the reading of the Express of last week we think the disease has settled in his right hand but we hope for no serious results.

A young man of Tennessee tells us that Lebanon has no charms for him. He should not be discouraged for there are as good fish in the sea as were ever caught out.

A match hunt is talked of to take place Christmas day, between Knox's (bute and Tennessee.

C. F. Bigbee and family paid Tennessee a visit last week and were the guests of Geo. C. Ross. Clayborne and Mr. Tucker enjoyed a good talk over old times at the party Friday night.

LENA FELIX.

In making the rounds of the town we notice in the drug store of N. W. Smith a large stock of holiday goods, and all who expect to make selections in his line should call and examine his stock.

SWEET HOME JOTTINGS.

It is cold weather at present but of course we all know that.

Rev. Bowerfox, presiding elder of the Evangelical Church, was holding quarterly meeting at this place Saturday and Sunday.

One evening last week as Willie and Ruth Hamilton were returning home from school their horse became unmanageable, throwing both children. Willie escaped with slight bruises, but Ruth was not so fortunate, she getting an arm broken.

Mr. Rumsbaugh and family have moved to Albany. Mr. Brooks will occupy the house vacated by him.

Rev. A. Tunison, of Liberty, attended the meeting Saturday and Sunday.

Messrs. Poncixte and Noble of Prineville started across the mountains Thursday, but finding the snow on Seven-mile mountain too deep to cross, were compelled to turn back. They left again Friday intending to go by the way of Portland and the Dalles.

Miss Alice Jackson is home again.

Rev. Mulkey will preach in the Sweet Home Church Saturday evening, Sunday morning at seven o'clock and at seven in the evening.

UNO.

What shall I do?

These rainy days are dreadful, and oh my! these evenings are so long, and these days are so short, what shall I do? We heard the above remark as it was made by one lady to another lady of Lebanon, and the only reply was: "It is real dreadful."

We felt real sorry for those ladies, or rather for their taste. We thought of the many rich gems of thought, the fine yet cheap literature to be had, choice sermons and excellent Sunday School literature that could be had for the asking. Glorious opportunities for the practice of vocal and instrumental music and cultivation of the fine arts.

With such grand opportunities for the getting of knowledge, such facilities for the cultivation of mind and heart, and then droll out, "What shall I do?" sounds so silly and ridiculous. There are enough waste moments and hours in Lebanon to make grand men and women of our boys and girls. Enough of slaughtered time by our young men, and women too, to accumulate fortunes, and acquire the means for comfortable living. Enough men stand around the saloons of Lebanon and kill time enough each day, if profitably employed to make a comfortable living, to say nothing of squandered money, violated life and morals. Let us answer the question as best we can for our dear young people.

1st. Let all who can, attend the W. C. T. U. reading rooms, read, study and enjoy good company. Let some one start a school of practical culture for the development of noble manhood and the man who gets this up will do good and make money. Let some one start a night school in bookkeeping, or if you prefer, a general commercial college. The man who would get up a school of this kind would confer a great and lasting good, and pave the way to usefulness for many an idle youth.

Let us have a class in voice culture, no place on the coast needs this more than Lebanon; and nothing adds more to the pleasure of refined society. Or, organize a reading club or private lyceum.

Let all good men and women upon wide their hearts, stretch forth their arms and help draw one young man away from the saloons, and lift them up to a higher and better life than laying around saloons rainy days and long evenings.

Oregon on Wheels.

St. Paul Globy makes the following mention of the car, Oregon on wheels, on its arrival in that city:

Yesterday afternoon and evening the elegant car from Oregon was thronged with visitors, every one of whom spoke in highest terms of the exhibit. Mammoth vegetables and fruit, a fir plank forty-seven inches wide, and a magnificent cabinet of minerals are among the attractions. This afternoon from twelve to four and this evening from seven until ten will be the last chance for the citizens to visit the car, as it goes to Minneapolis to-morrow morning and will exhibit there Friday and Saturday. Major Weed and his assistants, Messrs. Johnson and Weiler are very cordial and are having a kind welcome for visitors. Oregon on Wheels, sent out by the Oregon state board of immigration, and is not a private enterprise nor a real estate booming scheme. It is a free exhibit of that state.

We want every mother to know that croup can be prevented. True croup never appears without a warning. The first symptom is hoarseness; the child appears to have taken a cold may have accompanied the hoarseness from the start. After that a peculiar rough cough is developed, which is followed by the croup. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse; a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will prevent the attack. Even after a rough cough has appeared the disease may be prevented by using this remedy as directed. It has never been known to fail. 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by M. A. Miller, the druggist.

Persons arriving from La Grande state that the authorities of that place, backed by a strong public sentiment in view of the recent outrageous conduct there and the recent disappearance of two well known citizens of that place, have given orders and are enforcing them strictly, requiring all gamblers, tinhorn hoboes, and rounders generally, to leave the town. The gambling houses have been closed and a general reformation has set in.—Baker City Democrat.

In accordance with the custom in Massachusetts two life prisoners were pardoned on thanksgiving day. There was an exciting scene in the penitentiary this year when the envelopes were opened and the names read out of two men who had been in the prison between eleven and twelve years. Both had been convicted of murder under extenuating circumstances. They had been model prisoners and their pardon had been recommended by all officials connected with them. Their fellow
